[Kansas City Times.] A bold and successful jail robbery was perpetrated a few nights ago in Liberty, the county seat of Clean the county seat of Clay county. It is one of the most daring events of the season, and as a fair sample of the reckless desperation of the horse-thief organization upon this border. It was about 9 o'clock at night when four strangers rode o'clock at night when four strangers rode up to the Court House, beneath which is the County Jail. They made very little noise and attracted no unusual attention. They led an extra horse by the bridle, and, after dismounting, bitched their horses near the Court House. It appears that there was a school exhibition of some kind being held at a hall some distance form, the initi and large proportion. tance from the jail, and a large propor-tion of the people of the city, together with those in obarge of the jail, had gone to see the entertainment. This left the jail totally unrarded.

The prison of it the jail were three in number, the chargest with murder and the third of the need was John B. Sweeney, of the area was John B. Sweeney, con with neurder of John Fuller, four weeks who had been arrested at Missiy on suspidion. The second was old Irishman named Patrick Ryan, a silroad trackman, who killed a man named Riley in Clay county in 1869. He escaped arrest at the time of the killing, and was absent and his whereabouts unknown for about sight years, when he ing, and was absent and his whereabouts unknown for about eight years, when he returned to Clay county and surrendered himself for trial. He has been in jail for many months awaiting a termination of his case. The third person was the man wanted by the four armed men. His name is George Hume, and is charged with stealing a horse from a farmer named John Veal, residing near Arnold Station, four miles from this city. Hume was caught with the horse in his possess. was caught with the horse in his posses sion, and was put in the Clay County Jail to await the trial.

The four strangers were well provided with cold-chisels and hammers, and went to work on the locks of the jail door with such a will and scientific skill that they were soon in the interior, and announce to the prisoners that they were free. All four were armed with Winohester rifles and revolvers, and rode first-class horses. They seemed to be well acquainted with They seemed to be well acquainted with the horse-thief Hume, and laughingly congratulated him on his release. After releasing the three prisoners, the four strangers rode quietly out of town without discovery. Now comes the strangest part of this affair. The two men charged with murder, after walking about the town enjoying the cool evening breezes, went back to their cells and went to bed, both refusing to be released until after both refusing to be released until after their trial. The first notification of the pail delivery was given by them to the authorities between eight and nine o'clock in the morning. A prompt effort was then made to trail and pursue the bold jail robbers, and scouting parties went out in all directions in search, but thus far without any success. The two men accused of murder are still at liberty and promenade the streets at will, return ing to the jail regularly for food. It is sur-mised that the four men who bursted the jail doors are a part of the great horse-thief combination which has so long carried on a wholesale system of horsestealing on the Western border.

At three o'clock yesterday afternoon, a large fire was raging in the woods near Cisco, and it spread to such an extent that it was feared the C. P. snow sheds would be fired. The telegraph lines were effected for a time so that they did not operate very well, but by the timely arrival of the water train the flery element was stopped before it could catch the snow sheds or do any serious damage to the telegraph line.

P. S.—Latter advices are to the effect that the snow sheds near Emegrant Gap are on fire and that the flames were so fleres that the fire train was not able to subdue them very readily. No doubt the trains will be delayed several hours because of the configuration. No particulars .- [Reno Journal 7th.
